

Operation Ornaments

About Us

Every year thousands suffer after the loss of their homes and belongings following natural disasters. Often what they miss most, after photos and journals, is Christmas ornaments. What started as a grassroots effort by just a few friends, has grown into a national (and global) effort to send love and support through ornaments.

Since 2020, Operation Ornaments has provided over 70,000 ornaments to more than 5,000 families, touching the lives of over 15,000 individuals. These ornaments have been carefully made and donated by people from 48 states and abroad.

Each year as they trim their trees, we hope these families will remember people from all over who cared enough to make and send an ornament. Together, we can make a difference, bringing joy and a lot of hope to those who need it most.

Dear Nice People, Thank you all for all the ornaments. I'm very thankful for evry single one of them. Now you know for sure you will be on the nice list. - Emelie age 8

The ornaments were such a wonderful touch for our family affected by the Marshall fire, too. I got so inspired that I have been making some to contribute to your future events. Helps me process my own grief if I know I can pay it forward. Laurie

Thank you for the ordements they make me so happy! I think you shooed get extera presents this year for this. My name is Brooke and I am 7 years old.

Learn more and join the effort by visiting our Facebook page or our website operationornaments.org.